

Please do not regulate or interpret current regulation in such a way that it would limit competition or choice, please continue to allow XM/satellite radio customers who pay for service to get as much as possible from these services. It has been clear that protecting media conglomerations has not been the FCC's goal in the past and it shouldn't be now, and a capricious ruling against XM would not be a step in that direction regardless of those arguing in favor of local radio.